

MARCO POLETTI

“My VISION, My DNA: Urban&Nature”

Two souls who live within us, two ways of living, two lifestyles that sometimes attract each other and sometimes are opposed but which are essential.

Urban&Nature become Vision through the creativity of Marco Poletti, Designer and Architect with an Italian DNA. Two worlds at the antipodes and at the same time complement each other the trend of the moment.

Urban presents itself with vibrant colors and strong contrasts. Cold tones that, lit by points of light of color, return a typically metropolitan fairy tale.

Nature comes to life and breathes in a space where materials and colors warm up the space and regenerate it with emotional colors.

Two Vision that arise from the idea and the need to investigate the relationship between human beings and their habitat and which only together create a dynamic balance and today's trend.

My DNA, as intrinsic to the culture of Italy and in dynamic balance between being a designer and an architect that has the only point of reference in “giving life” to a creative idea through interpretations that have a strong emotional impact as spaces, surfaces or volumes.
